METHODIST COLLEGE LIBRARY
Fayetteville, N. C.

In the minds of Key Men, In the hearts of strong leaders . . .

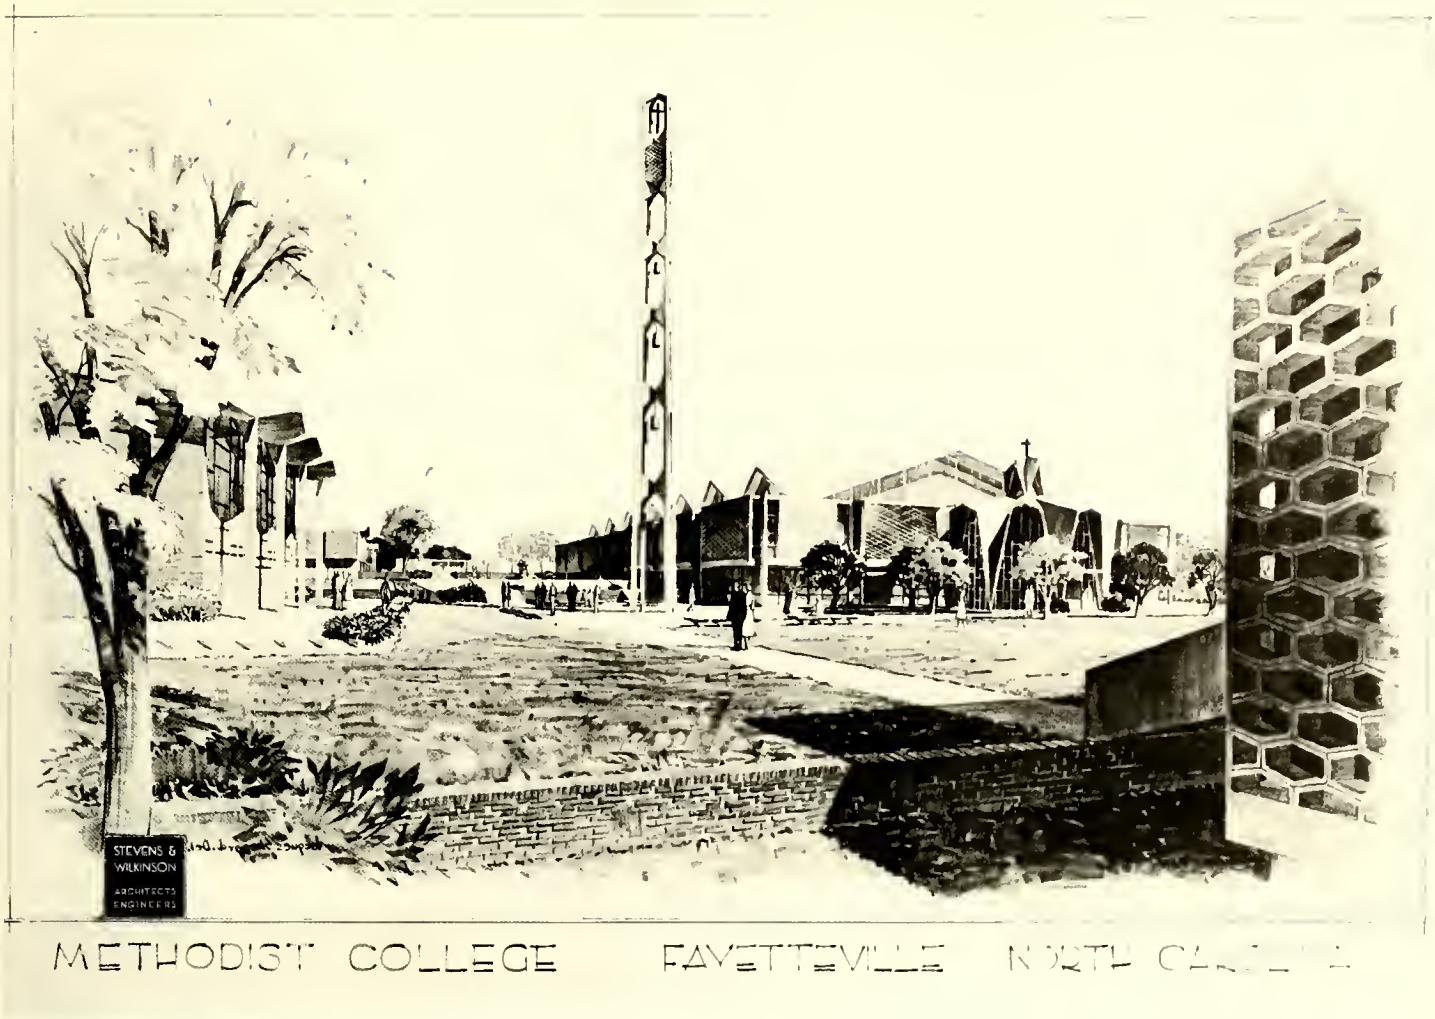

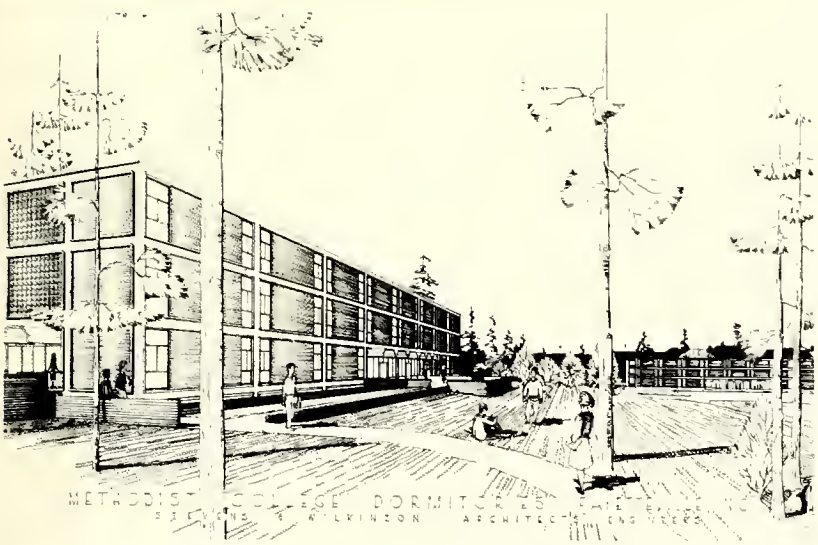

Vision is all there was that rainy day in November, 1956, when Bishop Garber (above, right) broke ground for the newly-chartered Methodist College on a 600-acre tract that had previously grown corn and peaches. Vision — the ability to see reality in blueprints (above, left) as Dr. Stacy Weaver, first president, watches Davis Memorial Library emerge. Vision — the ability to make others see your dreams (bottom, right) as Dr. Weaver points out campus building sites from the patio of the Student Union.

Modern Architecture to Face an Exciting Future

Early architectural sketches of the central mall (top) look remarkably similar to the present-day campus with the exception of Hensdale Chapel which was changed for design purposes. Atlanta-based architectural firm Stevens and Wilkinson won a national award for its design of the Methodist College campus, including the residential halls (bottom, left).

Twenty-five years of freshmen and finals, seniors and seminars — we've made a name for ourselves in academics, in community service, in religious life and in leadership training. Buildings that began with brick and mortar are now home to students from throughout the Eastern Seaboard and from numerous foreign countries. The workmen are long gone, the buildings are settled in, the plans filed away — the campus is now alive with twenty-five years of tradition.

THE YEAR IN SPORTS

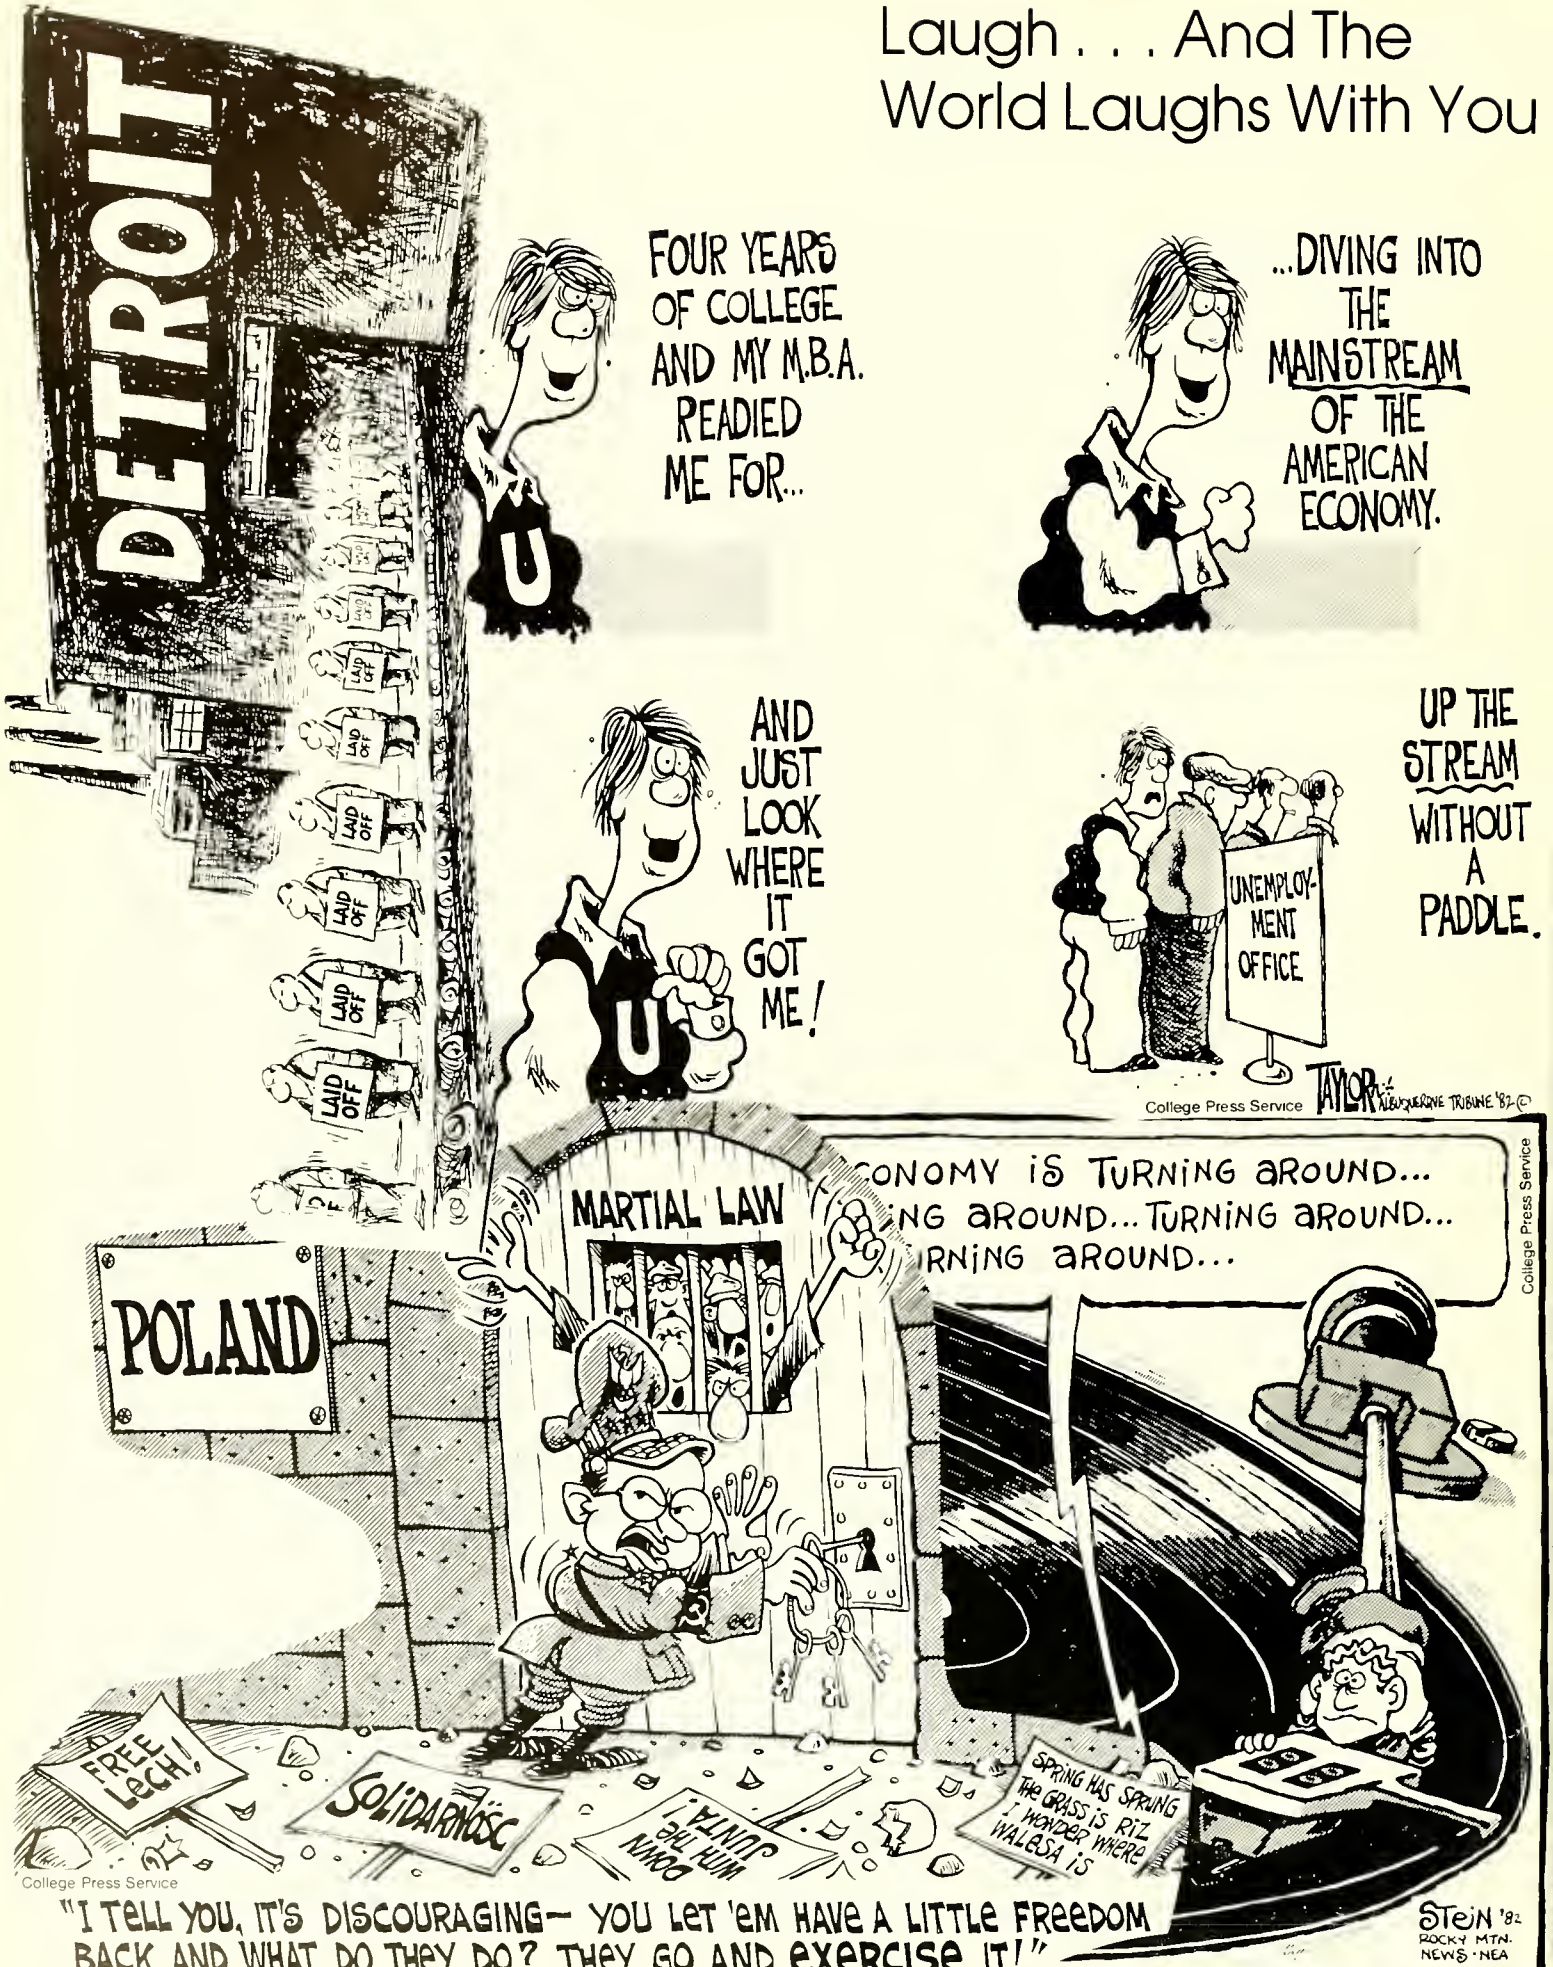

How 'bout them Heels?! UNC takes the NCAA Basketball championship and Clemson takes the NCAA Football championship. Lacrosse? UNC again! On the national scene Larry Holmes makes a believer out of Gerry Cooney, retaining his heavyweight championship in boxing while Sugar Ray Leonard nurses an eye injury. Bjorn Borg doesn't get an invitation to Wimbledon after winning it four times. John McEnroe wins Wimbledon but not the hearts of the British. Forty-niners win the Super Bowl and LA Lakers take the NBA crown. The World Series went to Los Angeles and the Dodgers. No triple crown this year as Kentucky Derby winner Gato de Sol chose not to enter the Preakness. At the Indianapolis 500 it was almost a photo finish, Rick Meares being edged out by winner Gordon Johncock.

Graduation

Graduation is a happy mixture of accomplishments, pride, reluctance, anticipation, hesitation and relief all rolled into one.

Methodist College holds three graduations annually — August, December and May — to insure that graduates have their moment in the spotlight. One of the favorite elements of graduation is the recognition of family and friends as the graduate receives the diploma. Dr. Pearce strongly encourages family members to applaud their "17,000 investment."

Methodist Graduates Go Into the World Already Involved, Already Committed

In Memorium

Dr. Paul Carruth, respected churchman, committed trustee, beloved father, awarded a Methodist College diploma to his daughter Joy Carruth during December 1981 graduation ceremonies. His untimely death in April, 1982, leaves us all diminished. We hold this image of happy bonds and unconditional love in our hearts always.

Clubs / Organizations

The ROTC program at Methodist College enjoys success as it prepares cadets mentally and physically for Advance Camp '82 with weekly physical training programs and military skills classes. ROTC also sponsors scuba qualification courses and rapelling clinics as well as the ROTC Honor Guard.

ROTC frequently brings the famous Golden Knights to the Methodist College campus.

Appearances can be deceiving. Michael Sundborg is rapelling off the sides of one of the dorms during a rapelling clinic.

MS III's prepared for Advanced Camp '82 by learning all the basics for military success, including a live-fire exercise in April and mini-camp orientation in May. Friday afternoons found MS IV's instructing MS III's in labs and organizational planning, preparing them for their commission into the Armed Forces.

Art Club Is Highly Visible

The Art Club, led by president Bobbie Griffin, was responsible for numerous projects on campus including the painting of the Student Union balcony and window decorations for Homecoming. Other officers were vice-president Irina Rozanski, secretary/treasurer Cheryl McCrary, and community coordinator Lori Etz.

Library Club Goes All Out For Homecoming

Library Club officers preparing float decorations are Margaret White, vice-president; Linda Heaton, president; Linda Rhodes; and Cathy Dahlvig, secretary/treasurer.

Political Science/History Analyze National Trends

SGA Led By Kugelmann

Officers of the Student Government Association were Rick Kugelmann, president; Jeff Bullock, treasurer; Sylvia Tartt, vice-president; Patty Smith, secretary.

SGA Senators were Annette Hibbert, Sandy Sellers, Denise Jones, Nanette Carter-Lamb; Row 2: Valerie Houston, Ken Morgan, Steve Clunn, Kenny Hall, Allen Borgardts, Roger Pait, and Chris Henn.

Student Union Designs Entertainment

Officers were Mamoru Kubota, president; Randy Egsegian, vice-president; Lynn Morton, secretary/treasurer; and Bob Wilson, Gil Wise, film chairmen.

Scientists Energize

Science Club members were Row 1: Carla Raineri, Itzela Correa, Sal Raineri, Jean Young, Susan Deal, Dr. Folsom; Row 2: Mark Sasser, Tom Clemo, Steve Vitamvas, Bianke Kroos, James Alarcon. Steve Vitamvas was president.

Science Club members were intense, energized students travelling to areas of scientific interest and lobbying for environmental issues. Through well-organized fund raising projects, club members financed their projects.

Life in all its forms — plant or animal — is preserved and applauded by concerned club members.

Koinonia Means Caring

The word "Koinonia" means "Christian fellowship" and that's exactly what this organization is about. Koinonia gives everyone in the campus community the chance to unite with others to love, share, and most importantly, to worship God.

Besides the weekly activities, such as Inside/Outside and Fellowship Breakfast, this year Koinonia sponsored several memorable events. Among these were a concert by Honeytree, one of the best singers of contemporary Christian music in the country. Faith-in-Life Week was an exceptional experience, featuring the Director of Chaplains for the Veteran's Administration Hospitals Corbin Cherry. The Moravian Love Feast was just as special as it has been every year and required two services to accommodate all who wished to participate.

Koinonia has also been involved in many charitable events, such as the annual Crop Walk which was aided by the Methodist College Rock-a-Thon.

But Koinonia is more than mere meetings and activities. It contains a quiet atmosphere also, in which deep and lasting friendships are made. For those who have been active in Koinonia, the experience will probably always be remembered as one of the richest Methodist College has to offer.

The Business and Economics Club has had a successful year. In the fall they sponsored a float in the Homecoming parade and hosted the Halloween Dance. They also hosted an economics symposium during which they presented the Wall Street Journal Award to Bob Rivenbark. Spring brought bake sales, Carowinds, and a canoe trip down the Cape Fear River.

Doris Cole and Ann Parker watch as students survey the bake sale.

Psychology Club Has Promising Future

The Psychology Club is an academic club comprised of psychology majors and minors. Guest speakers are invited to each meeting to discuss different topics pertaining to the field of psychology. In the near future, the club plans to become a chapter of Psi Chi. Officers for the 1981-82 year were Patricia Tyson, president; Barbara Robbins, vice-president; Cheri DePriter, secretary; Patricia Turner, secretary; Allen Borgardts, treasurer. Dr. Ted Jaeger served as the faculty advisor.

Ethos Members are Concerned Students

Ethos is an organization that concerns itself with current social issues and problems. Its members sponsor and participate in projects designed to benefit their community. Ethos had numerous activities during 1981-82 including bake sales, donation of funds to Fayetteville Urban Ministry and collection of food for the needy. A "Big Brother, Big Sister" day was sponsored for the Falcon's Children Home on Homecoming Saturday. Soon after, Ethos held a field day for exceptional children of Hillsborough Street School and one for the residents of Whispering Pines Nursing Home.

SEA Leads

Student educators at Methodist College promote professional interest at the earliest stage in a teacher's life. Special activities included the hosting of the NCAE District 10 convention in October.

Tapestry Offers Challenge

Tapestry editors Harley Palmer and Cary Wilson (below) share the responsibility of coordinating creative writing efforts and artistic efforts in the annual literary magazine.

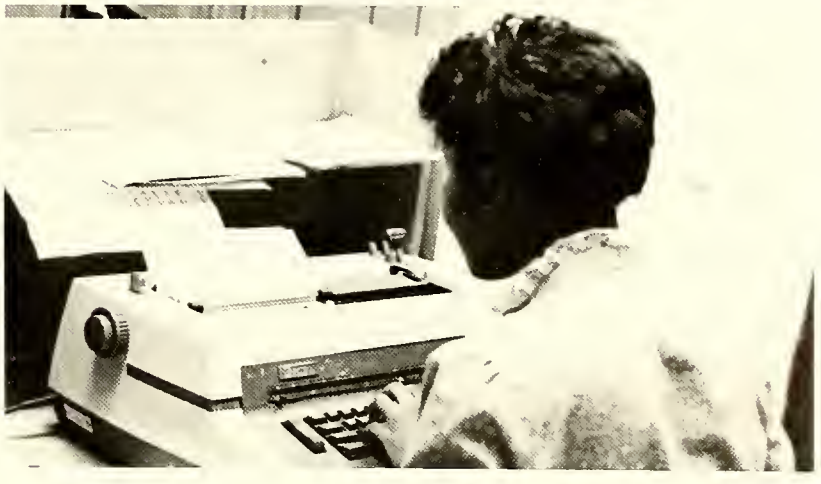

Small Talk, Carillon Staffs Rush for Deadlines

In an endless rush for the picture for page 6 or the copy for editorials, student publications are edited. With the strong leadership of the bi-weekly newspaper Small Talk editor Tricia Turner, the student publication has won top national honors for eight consecutive semesters. Carillon, the yearbook, maintains its quality and quantity despite rising costs, because of the efficiency of editor Barry Shelley.

Weaver Dormitory Officers Led by Finley

Weaver dorm officers were Dean Jane Downing, advisor, Susan Mull, Debbie Finley, Denise Jones and Rachelle McCallum.

Garber Dorm Headed by Jenrette

Dean Jane Downing supervised the activities of Garber Dorm assisted by president Jeanene Jenrette, Donna Conty, Elaine Forbes, Donna Gore and Terry Moore.

Ms. Bacon Makes Cumberland Home

Ms. Alda Bacon, housemother for Cumberland Dorm, is home away from home for the guys in her dorm. Officers are Al Carroll, Jim Soucktak, Steve Flowers and Cal Violette.

Sanford Dorm Has Live-In Dean

Dean of Men Guy Braley keeps a sharp eye on Sanford residents including officers Ian Joyce, Chris Manning, and Steve Clunn.

Cliff Wells Heads Alpha Psi Omega

Alpha Psi Omega is the national honorary theatre fraternity. Alpha Psi Omega members were Clifford Wells, president; Jeneal Whorton, secretary; Sylvia Tartt, Nancy Hesse, Mamoru Kubota, Willie Gooch, Walter Stark, Cheryl Epperson, and advisor Dr. Peyrouse.

Monica Herring Leads Alpha Chi

Alpha Chi Recognizes Scholars

Alpha Chi is the national academic honorary fraternity recognizing outstanding accomplishment in the academic area. Alpha Chi members at Methodist are advised by Dr. Janet Cavano, Dr. Mike Rogers and Dean Calvert Ray.

Alpha Xi Delta Stresses Service

Kappa Delta Regroups

Under the leadership of sponsor JoAnne Clark, Kappa Delta sorority is regrouping their rush efforts. Members are Dr. Clark, Josie McLaurin, Bianke Kroos, Mouzetta Zumwalt, Lynn Morton and Donna Gore.

Panhellenic Council is coordinated by Dr. Janet Cavano and representatives from both sororities including Lynn Morton, Rachelle McCallum, Teri Hawley, Dr. Cavano and Elaine Forbes.

Lambda Chi

Officers were Mamoru Kubota, Chris Manning, Jeff Davis, David Wentzel, Todd Collins, Randy Egsegian, Richard Arnold, Jim Suitch and Jeff Coghill.

Pi Kappa Phi

Guest Artists On Campus

Methodist enjoys the varied talents of numerous guest artists through campus groups, the Community Concert Series, the Fayetteville Symphony and the North Carolina Symphony as well as the Student Union Board.

Student Life

This is how we live
And we love it!

Freedom's just another word — for feeling at home. No hype, no tension, no hassle. The campus is our turf and we share it with others who accept without judging, encourage without pressuring.

Challenges are Set and Met

No-one demands that we be the best — that comes from inside. Because we are free to be, we are free to be the top of the hill. That's when it counts.

Homecoming Celebrates 'Southern Nights'

Fayetteville's Terry Sanford High School marching band added a touch of class to the 1981-82 Homecoming parade, as they led the procession comprised of the 1980-81 Homecoming Queen, the 1981-82 Homecoming Queen and her court, and the floats of various campus organizations around the soccer field.

All Shapes All Sizes All Styles

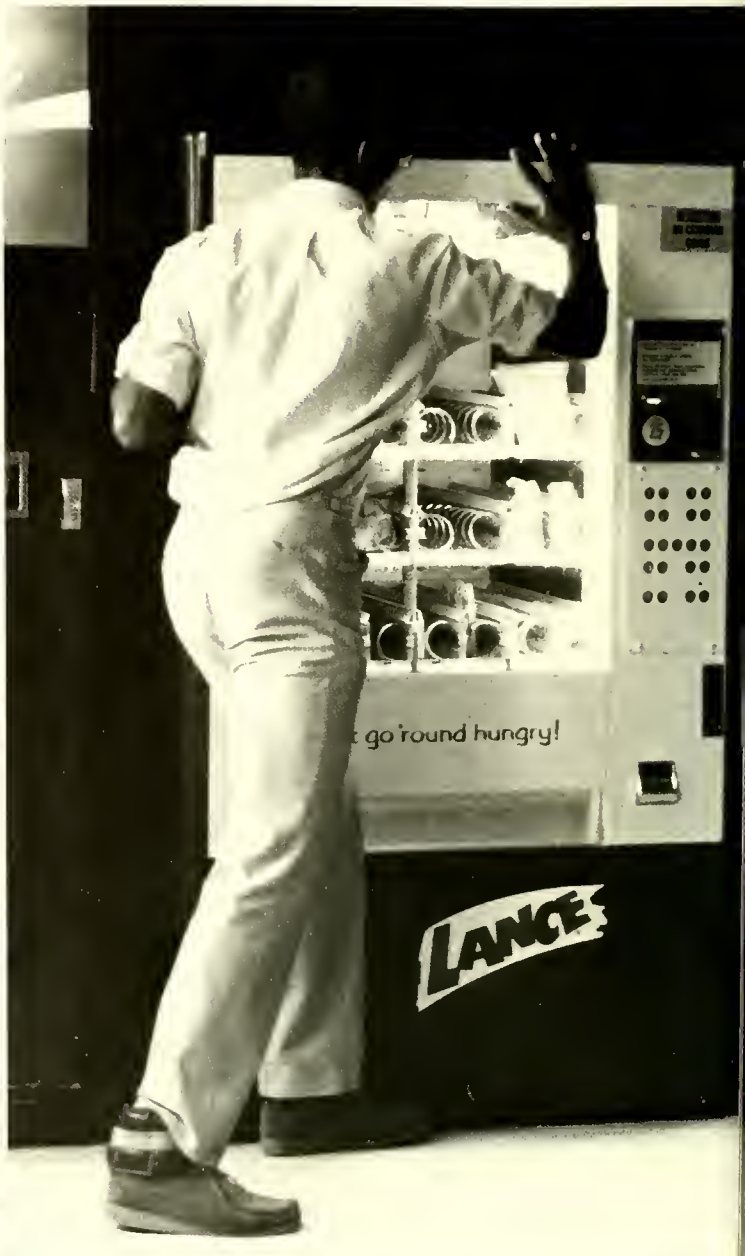

Methodist College students come in all shapes, all sizes and all styles. They are remarkable different and essentially the same. Their days pass in a mellow mood-smiling, sleeping, playing, eating and relaxing and enjoying the good life that is theirs.

Methodist Students Celebrate Their Campus, Their Choices, Themselves

Methodist College students enjoy their choices and their campus. The day-to-day atmosphere offers a chance for study, for growth, and for reflection. And yet, when work is done and studies set aside, Methodist students celebrate!

Man does not live by bread alone, but salad is another story — at least for Methodist coed Becky Ball.

Extra Effort Is the Difference

In winning and losing, it's that extra push that makes the difference. Whether it's Robin Sabiston (top) belting out a winning song in the Annual Talent Song or Rennie Stack (bottom, right) doing his powerful job as the center of Methodist College spirit, the result's the same — winning. David Prince (bottom, left) may even find the elusive answer about the exam schedule from the Administration Building with an extra push.

Education: A Matter Of the Mind

Learning is the most individual of all activities, enhanced frequently by creative and inspiring educators. That one thought generated in class may begin the philosophy of a lifetime.

Chilling Out On Campus

Methodist students have mastered the fine art of "chilling out" on campus with horseshoes on the central mall, taking care of plants, enjoying friends and enjoying ourselves.

Julie Junlanunt Wins Miss Methodist Crown

Smiles just naturally spread over campus

Spontaneous smiles that originate inside are a campus trademark. We don't need to be entertained — we find our own happiness at soccer games and Halloween dances, eating junk food at rehearsals and watching baseball practices. It doesn't take much when you are happy.

Fine Arts

Methodist's Own Theatre Guild

Masque Keys is an honorary club comprised of students, faculty, and local area residents who have participated in at least one Methodist production. Its members include actors and actresses, set designers, musicians, and other behind-the-scenes participants. Dr. Sue Kimball, Dr. John Sill, and Dr. Rosenburg are honorary Masque Keys members. Cheryl Epperson and Ann Johnson served as 1981-82 president and secretary/treasurer, respectively. Masque Keys has an honorary club, the Masquekeyteers for the children who have participated in a Masque Keys production.

It takes both the behind the scenes lighting and sound to produce Masque-Key performances.

George Dandin
The Dumbfounded Husband

The production of Moliere's George Dandin celebrated Methodist College's 1981 Homecoming. Walter Stark was cast in the title role of George Dandin and Carol Brown portrayed his wandering wife. This 1668 French comedy farce does not call one's attention solely to the inequities of the social structure which have changed in three hundred years, but also to the weakness of human nature which has not changed. As a member of the lower class, George cannot change his situation even as he knows his upper-class wife is cheating on him. He is a victim of a class distinction in this play where Moliere dramatizes one of his favorite themes: Marriage should be based on love.

George Dandin contemplates his unhappy situation.

George Dandin's mother-in-law grows tired of his complaints.

Angelica turns up her nose at her husband George Dandin.

George Dandin frets while his father-in-law scolds him for falsely accusing his wife of infidelity.

Angelica's lover denies that he even knows Angelica and thus makes George Dandin look like a fool.

Mummer's play: A Theatrical Treat From The Past

In the tradition of Elizabethan holiday celebrations, Indian King and True Blue Mummers' Play, two mummers' plays, were featured during the Masque Keys' first Mummer's Christmas Dinner Theatre. The entertainment was interspersed between the courses of the meal in the Renaissance style. The Mummers' company included David Burris, Nanette Carter, Alice Davis, Cheryl Epperson, Willie Gooch, Boot Kubota, Connie Nash, Walter Stark, Linda Trudeau, Bob Walston, Clifford Wells and Gloria Woods. David Castenada and Bob Walston served as the director and the assistant director, respectively, of the performances. Jean Ishee served as the musical director. Jeanette Mullen and Walter Stark were the costume designer and the mask designer, respectively. Jill Krauss served as the set designer. The Elizabethan food was prepared by Anthony Holmes of SAGA Food Services. The menu included grape juice, spiced beef, boiled sallet of spinage, pickled carrots, Yorkshire pudding, stewed sweet potatoes, and maffiniato. The meal was served by Renaissance servants in authentic Elizabethan dress.

'Emperor Jones' Highlights Black History Week

Eugene O'Neill's The Emperor Jones was chosen to celebrate Black History Week on the Methodist College campus. The black tragedy tells of a man who was warped by society into being a native dictator. The senior project of Clifford Wells and Mamoru Kubota, Wells was cast in the title role of this Alpha Psi Omega production while Kubota served as its technical director. Wells also composed the music and designed the lighting featured in this play. Mary Jane Kirby, a 1979 graduate of Methodist, directed the play's 14-member cast.

Emperor Jones listens nonchalantly while Smithers rants and raves.

While on his way back through time, Jones meets up with a chain gang and is forced to join them.

Emperor Jones attempts again to kill Lem, who is dead and whose apparition here is playing with dice.

On the next to the last stage of his journey, Jones heads back to Africa.

Cliffhanger Southern Style

The Count Will Rise Again by Dennis Snee is a Student Union Board production, directed by Cliff Wells. The play is based on the original story of Dracula by Bram Stoker. The setting is Carfax Plantation owned by Doctor Stewart, played by Steve Clunn. Also on this plantation is his daughter Lucy (Debbie Blewitt), her friend Mina (Cheryl Epperson) and an aunt and servants. When Dracula (Kelly Shelton) moves next door, the escapades begin. Caught in the middle is Lucy's boyfriend Bobby Jo Harker (Walter Stark) and Renfield (Bob Wilson), who escapes from the asylum run by Doc Stewart. Sheriff Womper (Kari Peterson) is determined to catch Dracula.

Sheriff Womper holds a gun on Dracula and attempts an arrest.

Dracula again tries to fool Van Helsing and the others while one of his victims is soon to enter the room.

The doctor and Beauregard Van Hesing try to reason with a patient who thinks he is back in the Civil War.

Dracula gives the lethal bite and thus creates a vampiress.

Walter Stark moves away from one of Dracula's vampiress or he will shortly become another victim.

The family discover's Dracula's first victim but they think that she is the victim of some disease.

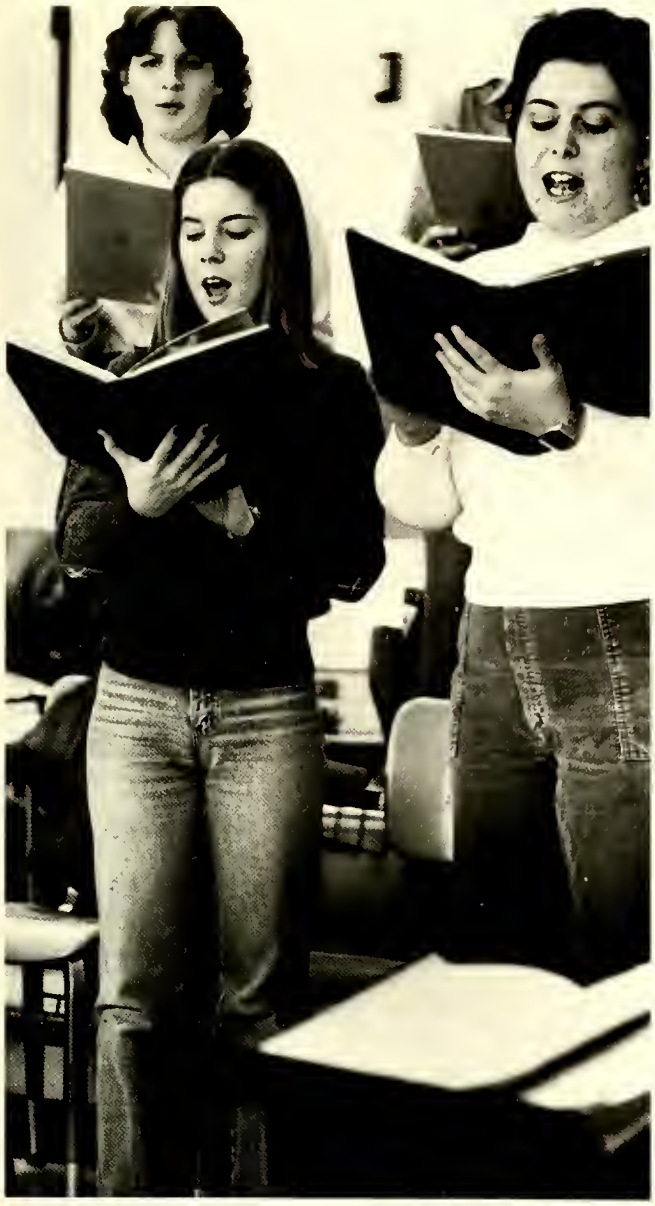

Stage Band Hits the Road

The Methodist College Stage Band started their concert season with the annual Homecoming concert at the picnic and ended the fall semester with the Christmas concert. In the spring, the band went on tour, performing for youth rallies at Salem United Methodist Church and Methodist College as well as at fund-raisers at Haymount United Methodist Church. Near the end of the season the band performed for a carnival in Raleigh. Band students are college students, college alumni and high school students. Mike Rogers directs the band.

Methodist Singers At Full Volume

The Methodist College Singers might have been few in number but they were full in volume and concerts. The Singers musical debut began with their Homecoming appearance which was held during the picnic on the mall. A gift of music and dance was presented to the Methodist campus by the Singers on December 8 in Reeves Auditorium. With Alan Porter conducting, the Singers performed "Magnificat" by Bach. Guest soloist for "Magnificat" were Sharon McNair, Vivian Byrd, Helen Leggett, Stephen Hunter and Otis Lambert. Along with brilliant dance interpretation performed by the Dance Theatre of Fayetteville, the Singers performed Pfautsch's "A Day for Dancing" during the second half of the program. Spring break is travel time for The Singers as the group has toured the Eastern seaboard from Massachusetts to Florida and has performed three times at Disney World. This year the group performed in their home state including concerts in Manteo, Morehead City, Selma, Wanchese and Cary.

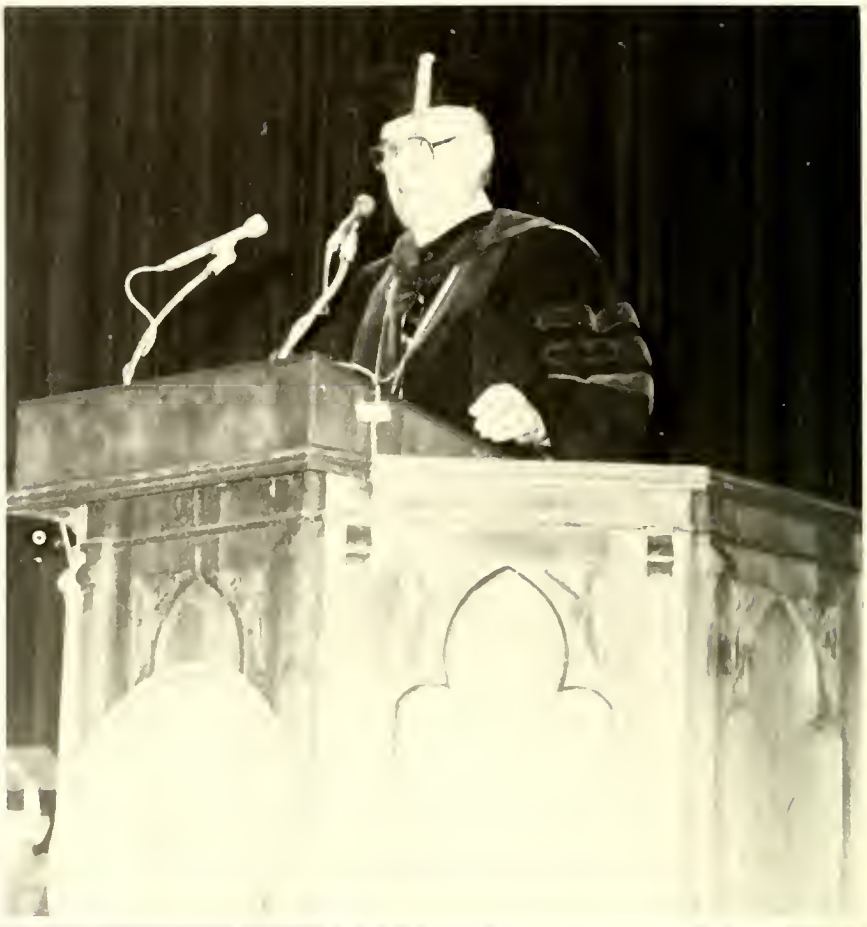

Officers are Alan Porter, director; Jo Cienski, president; Angela Gentry, vice-president; Linda Miller, secretary; Richard Bicoy, treasurer; Tammy Hightower, wardrobe.

Important Issues; Important People

Mountains and Valleys: Soccer Season 1981

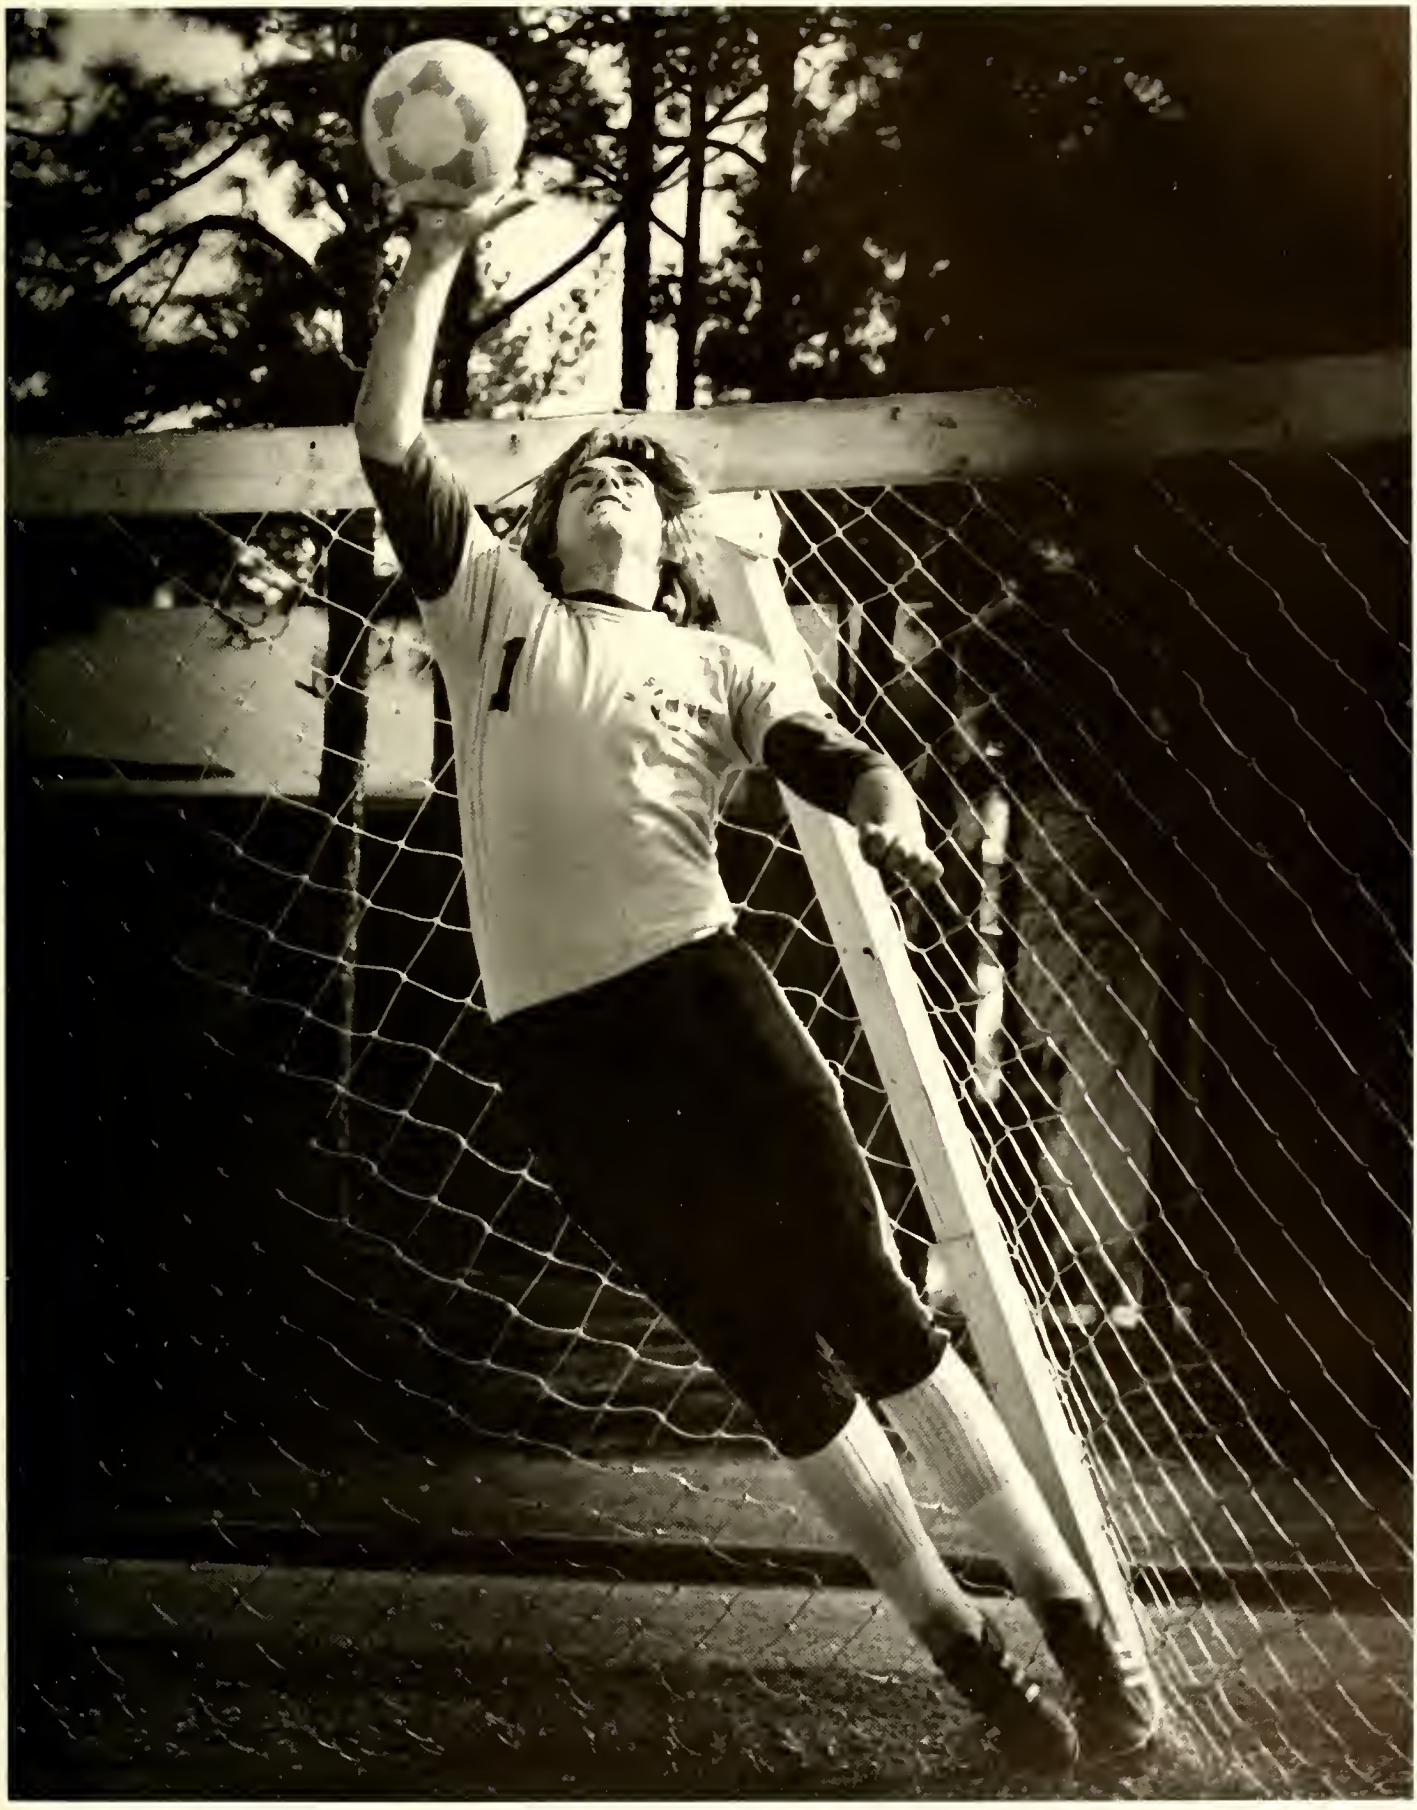

In a season characterized by peaks and valleys, the Monarch soccer team tied the 3rd-ranked team in the nation Averett College 0-0 and lost 5-0 to a weak St. Andrews team. This lack of consistant play plagued the Monarchs all year resulting in a 4-10-1 record in the DIAC. Coach Mason Sykes called upon freshmen recruits to fill vacancies by scoring leader Denny Laird, sidelined with an inflamed ulcer for half the season, and Aki, who suffered a severe knee injury during the Invitational tournament. Highlighting the season was the shutout against Averett when junior goalie Billy Thomas recorded 43 saves. Freshman Dean Beach played an impressive man-to-man against Averett's All-American Pekka Karterin while sweeperback Keller Pate kept a tight hold on the defense. A Homecoming victory over Virginia Wesleyan 2-1 gave new life to the season, but a dismal road trip to the Salisbury State Tournament in Maryland resulted in two more losses for the Monarchs. Denny Laird and Billy Thomas were named to the DIAC All-Conference team. Keller Pate was DIAC honorable mention.

Tri-captains Denny Laird, Yoshiaki Ishiii and Billy Thomas brought distinction as well as leadership to the Methodist soccer team. Laird (above) received his third consecutive DIAC All-Conference title. Aki (below) sustained an injury early in the season but returned to the line-up by Homecoming. Billy Thomas (right) took all the hardware with a banner year in the goal. Thomas was Homecoming 1981 Most Valuable Player and the DIAC All-Conference goalie. The 0-0 tie and shutout over nationally-ranked Averett College was the highlight of Thomas's year.

VOLLEYBALLERS GET STRONG START

Sophomores Nancy Curtin and Robin Baxley led the Methodist Volleyball team to a 7-13 season. "We started the season with a bang," says Coach Terry Benson," but we fizzled out." Citing a need for more height and more experience, Benson anticipates an exciting 1982 season behind the leadership of power hitter Curtin and experienced setter Baxley. Robin (near right) displays aggressive style as Joy Pendleton looks on. Cheryl McCrary (below) sets while Kathi Stames prepares for return and Nancy Curtin (far right) goes high for the shot.

Curtin Spikes Team Effort

Lewis, King Lead Cross Country

CHEERLEADERS CREATE HIGH ENERGY VOLTAGE

GREEN LEADS YOUNG MONARCHS

James Green, 6'2'' sophomore, led the Methodist basketball team in scoring with a 16.2 average per game in a season that was marked with disappointment. The 3-22 record reflected the youth of the team which started three freshmen and two sophomores. Coach Joe Miller predicts victory out of the ashes of the 1981-82 season "if these players remain in the program." Exciting wins included a 68-64 victory over Emory & Henry, a 69-60 victory over DIAC foe NC Wesleyan, and a 96-88 over Coker College.

Monarch Women Lose Close Ones

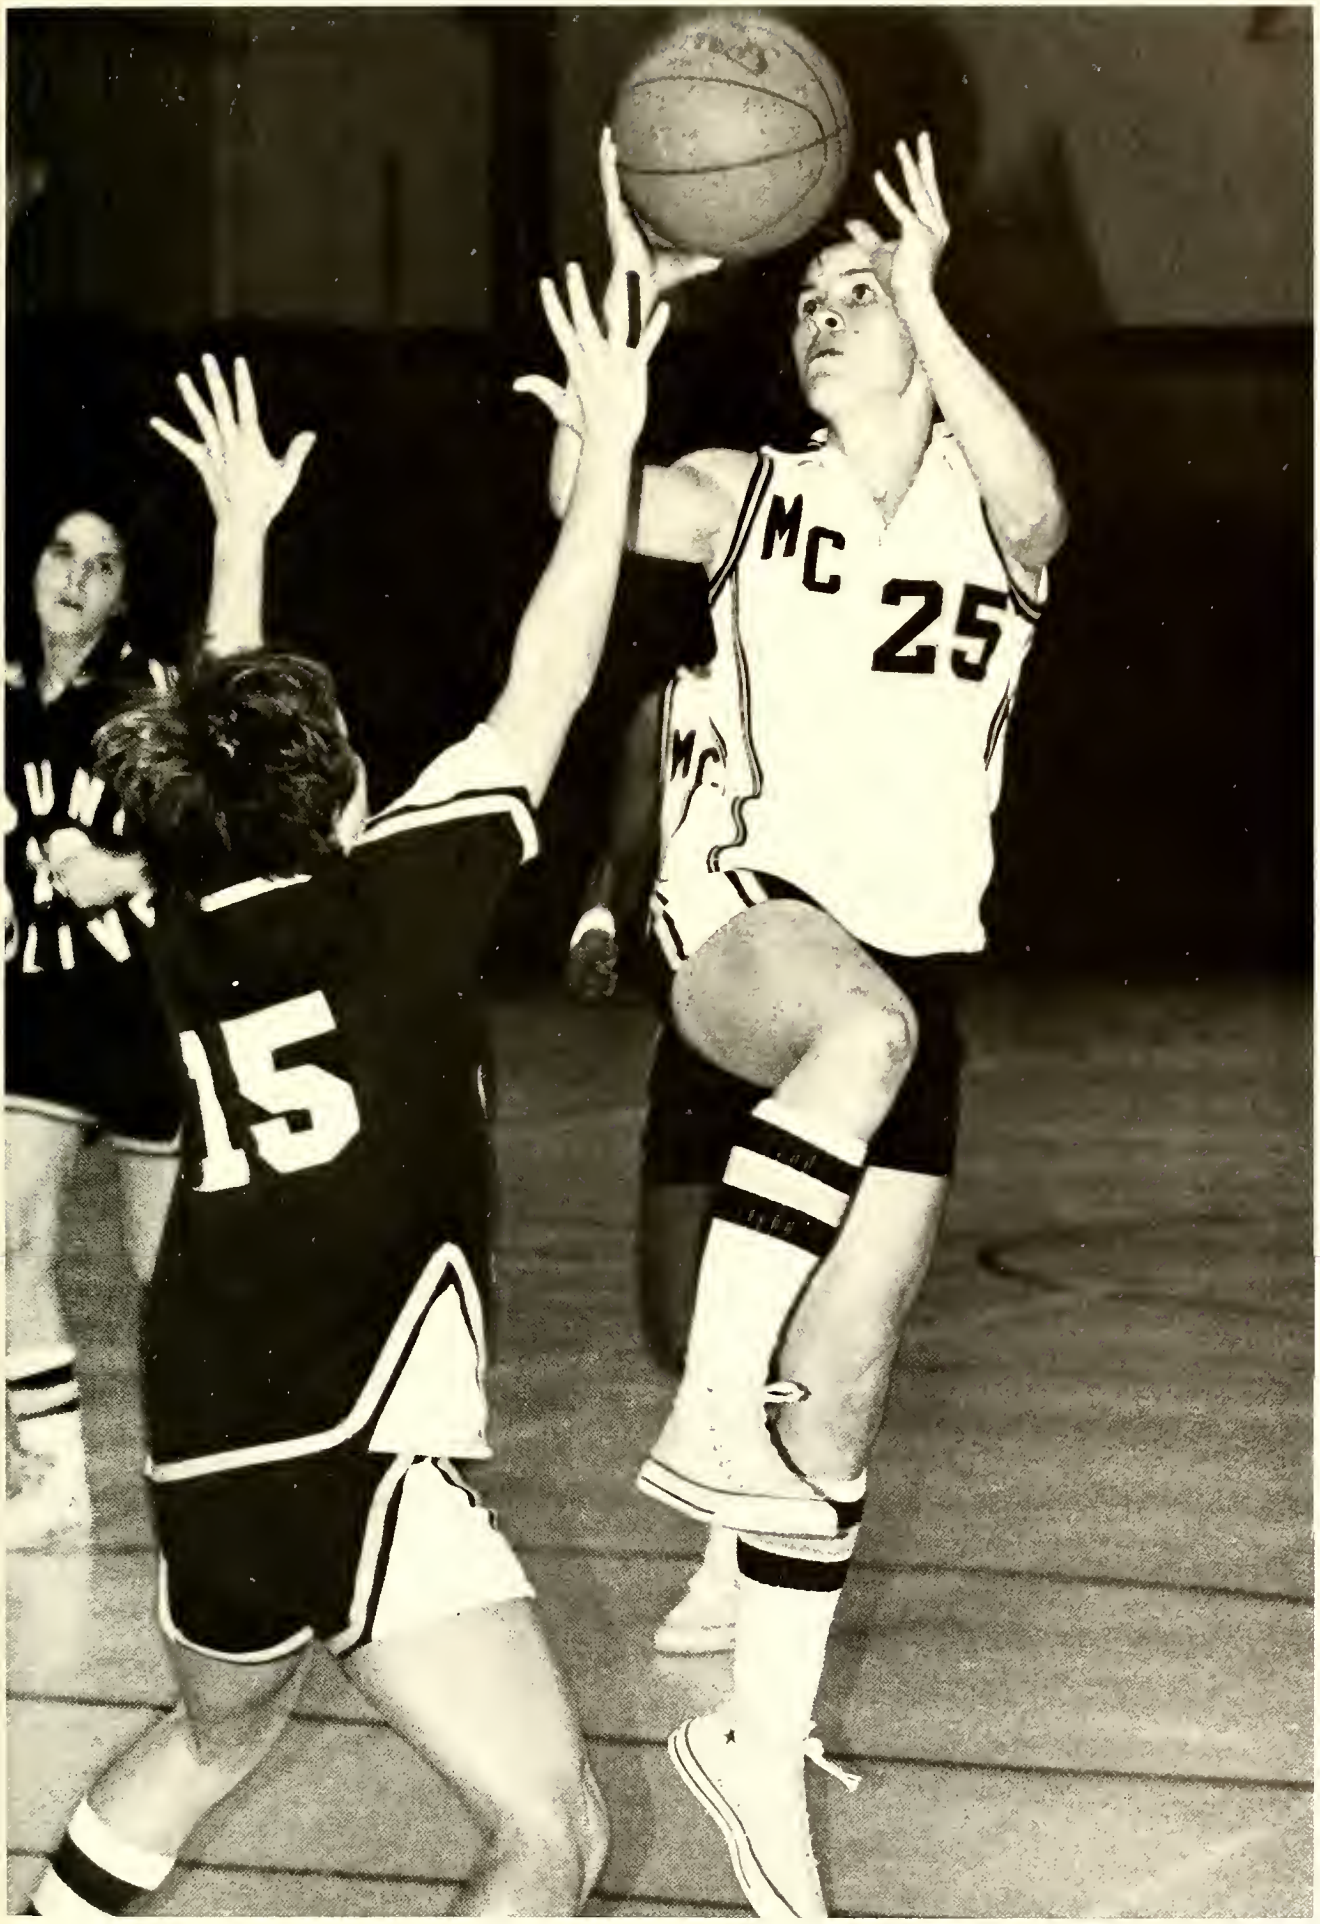

Coach Terry Benson (top, left) was on the wrong side of too many close games, resulting in a deceptive 3-18 overall record. "Even lots of hustle and desire couldn't make up for our youth and inexperience," says Benson who looks ahead to 1982-83 when scoring leaders Carla Oglesby (14.0 ppg) and Karen Cowart (11.3 ppg) will be sophomores. The senior leadership of Kathi Starnes (10.9 ppg) provided strength to the Methodist effort.

Monarchs Tie for DIAC Baseball Crown

The longest and most successful baseball season in the history of Methodist College came to an end in the finals of the National Collegiate Athletic Association Division III South Regional Tournament at Rocky Mount Municipal Stadium.

The Monarchs, who finished at 34-12-1, were beaten in the double-elimination event's seventh game, 11-4, by fellow Dixie Conference member North Carolina Wesleyan.

Coach Tom Austin's team forced the deciding game of the tournament by beating N.C. Wesleyan, 4-1, Sunday afternoon in the sixth game.

In the end, "we just ran out of gas," Austin said. "The pitching finally caught up with us."

Indeed.

In their previous four games, Methodist got complete games out of Terry Tolbert, in a losing effort against Lynchburg Friday, and Ronnie McNeill, in a victory over Ramapo College and strong performances from Mark Haymond against Lynchburg, and Mike Currie.

Then the roof caved in.

Starter Mike Mangum lasted just a third of an inning against Wesleyan in the second game. Reliever Tarry Faircloth was rocked for four runs in five innings; Carl Lovelace, who followed Faircloth, gave up five runs in just a third of an inning. Herman Racer and McNeill also pitched for the Monarchs and gave up no runs for the final 3 1-3 innings but the damage had been done.

"What hurt us was the five games," said Austin. "We lost the advantage when we lost to Lynchburg.

Bishops' coach Tony Guzzo agreed with Austin.

"Methodist just ran out of pitching," said Guzzo. "Give them credit, though. They did it the tough way, coming through the loser's bracket. They had their backs against the wall the whole way."

Senior pitcher Terry Tolbert (above) led the Monarchs at 11-3 for the season while Dave Hackley (bottom) turned in the close plays.

Key plays dominated the Methodist baseball season right up to the heartbreaking loss to DIAC rival NC Wesleyan in the NCAA Regionals. Billy Robinson (above), All-Conference center-fielder, was safe at home plate while Ronnie Proctor gets back to third safely.

Robin Baxley, sophomore outfielder from Tar Heel, NC, led the 1982 Women's Softball team at Methodist to a season. In a season plagued by inexperience and changing personnel, Baxley remained the stable core of both the offensive and defensive efforts. Ginny Ward (far right) shared pitching duties with Renee Howell (near right).

Tracksters Second In Conference

Methodist College trackmen set four Dixie Conference records in the 400-meter, the 100-yard dash, in addition to 7 first-place finishes, but still finished second in the DIAC to strong Christopher-Newport because of lack of depth. Coach Joe Miller looks to the future with an eye on the 1982 championship — "with the return of these runners and the addition of a few more."

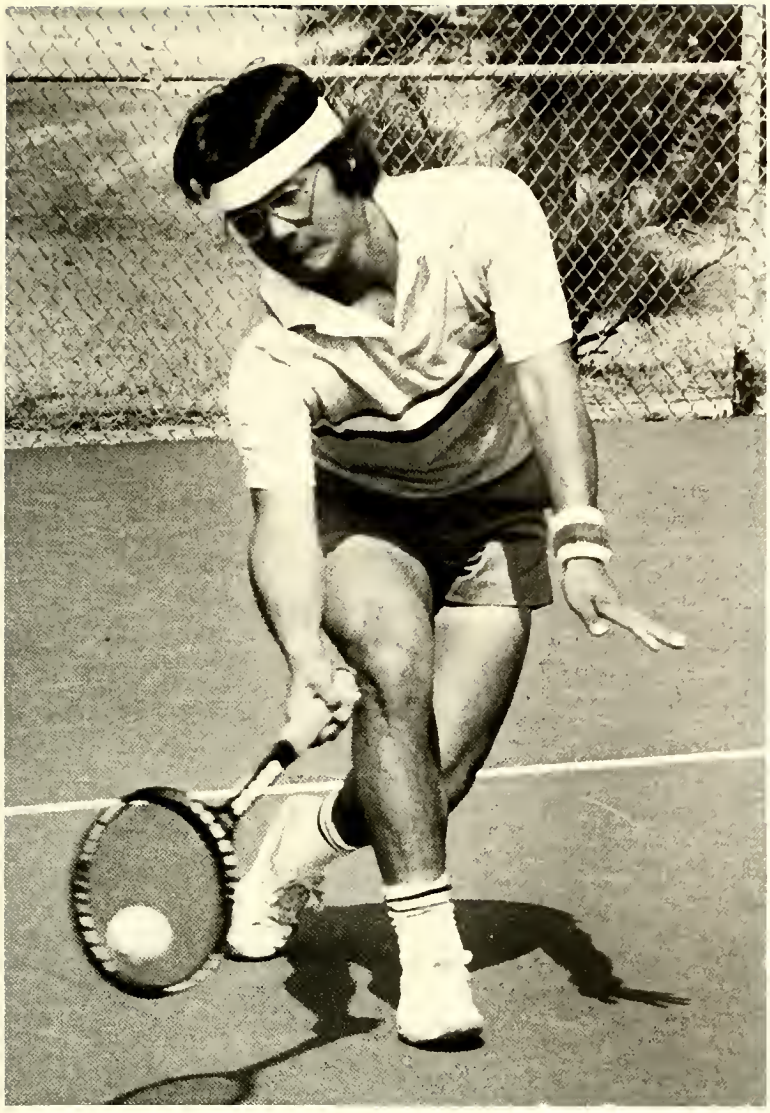

Methodist track members were Larry Mount, Raven Lewis, Joe Surkin, Al Bruton, Daymon West; Row 2: Vernon Livingston, Kenny Carlton, Ram Ramsey, Dino Tyson and Rennie Stack.

Bill Howard Plays #1 In Tennis

Bill Howard (far left), junior from Fayetteville, led the Monarch men's tennis team at the #1 position all season. Freshman Tom Jackson sported the best record at 4-9 for the #5 position. Howard received Most Valuable Player honors for his leadership. The Monarchs challenged Dixie Conference foes North Carolina Wesleyan and St. Andrews, but lost both matches 6-3. Coach Mason Sykes cited lack of college experience as the primary weakness of the team and lauded their willingness to learn as the strength. Hesa Hoshima (near left) played #6.

Tennis team members are Hesa Hoshima, Yoshiaki Ishii, Bill Howard; Row 2: David Stewart, Tom Jackson, Skip West and Coach Mason Sykes.

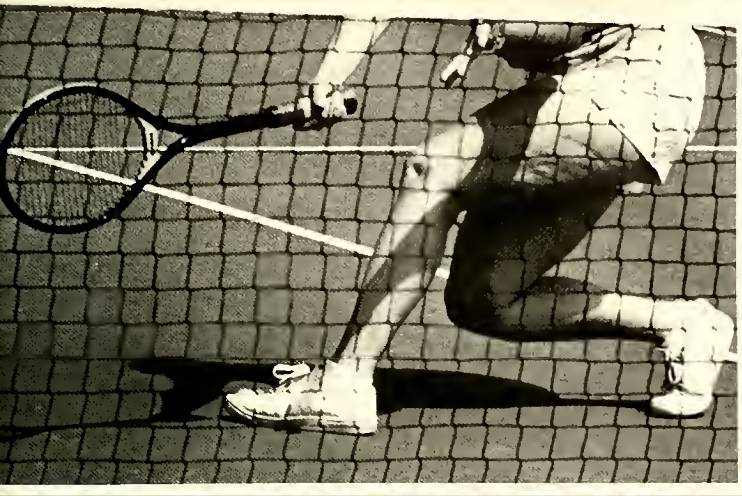

Women's Tennis Splits Season

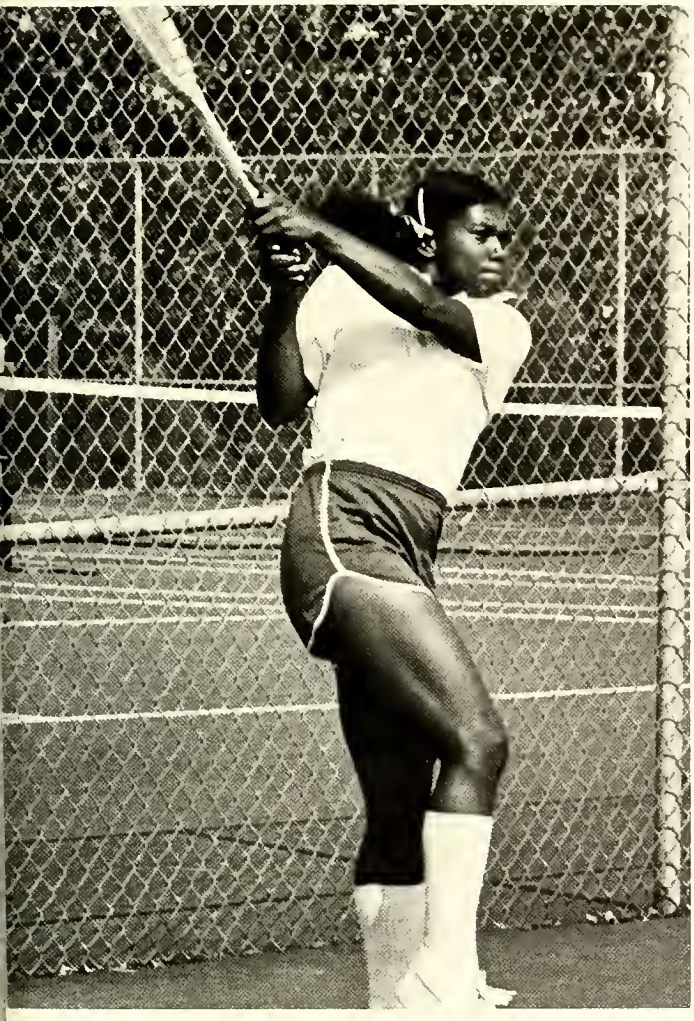

Following top weather patterns, the women's tennis team plays a split season in the fall and spring. Brand new players brought strong enthusiasm but not much experience to the courts. According to Coach Rose Paul Blackwell, Robin Carter and Kathi Starnes paced the Monarchs at #1 singles and #2 singles, respectively, while playing a strong #1 doubles combination. Team members (below) were Robin Carter, Donna Gore, Becky Ball, Sandy Sellars; Row 2: Robin Carter, Annette Hibbert, Jeanene Jenrette and Coach Rose Paul Blackwell.

Methodist Golfers Are Third In NCAA Nationals

"All in All — Not A Bad Year," says Gene Clayton.
But understatement is characteristic of the 42-year old Methodist golf coach and two-time DIAC Golf Coach of the Year.
Third place in NCAA Nationals with four All-Americans — overall record of 122-13 — six tournament championships — five DIAC All-Conference golfers — and wins over every NCAA Division III college in regular play — no, "not a bad year."
Methodist College, in great shape to capture its first National Collegiate Athletic Association Division III golf title ever with six holes left to play suffered a rash of bogeys after a 90-minute thunderstorm delayed play and finished third, still the Monarchs top finish in the national event.
Methodist finished with a team score of 1,208 in the four-day tournament, eight strokes behind champion Ramapo College of New Jersey. California State-Stanislaus, winners of the past six NCAA Division III tournaments, fired the best round of the tournament, a 292, to finish second at 1,201.
Methodist coach Gene Clayton was quick not to totally blame the drenched Reid Park Course for his team's demise, however.
"With six holes to go, we were three over and had the tournament won," Clayton said. "John Lavin was one under. Mike Hartman was one under, Mickey Sokalski was even and Brian Hamric was four over. Then we had a torrential rain storm for the next hour and a half."

Intramurals Create Spirit of Competition On Campus

Intramurals competition between women and men on campus was dominated by BSM for women and Tastebuds for men. BSM women captured football and basketball championships while Norman Paytes' Tastebuds took top honors in flashball, outdoor soccer and softball.

Paytes was top male Intramural Athlete for the second consecutive year while Connie Dickens took top honors for women.

THIS PAST SCHOOL YEAR WAS METHODIST COLLEGES' 25th ANNIVERSARY. THE YEAR 2006 WILL BE OUR 50th! HI, I'M YOUR HOST GORF VII AND I'LL BE LEADING YOU THROUGH A TOUR OF THE FUTURE:
THE METHODIST COLLEGE CAMPUS IN THE YEAR 2006!
LET'S ZIP DOWN AND CHECK OUT THE SHAPE OF THINGS TO COME.

HERE COMES ANOTHER LOAD OF EXCHANGE STUDENTS FROM ANTARES IV.
NORTH CAROLINA'S CLIMATE HAS CHANGED SLIGHTLY AS YOU WILL NOTE BY THIS SUDDEN SNOW STORM

LAST BUT NOT LEAST IS THE NEW CARILLON BASED ON THE OLD DESIGN BUT THIS ONE IS 2000 FEET HIGH! IT'S FUNCTIONAL BUT THE ONLY PERSON EVER REPORTED AS HEARING THE BELLS RING WAS A LOW FLYING SPACE SHUTTLE PILOT!
BONK!
WELL THAT'S IT FOLKS. I HOPE YOU ENJOYED OUR LITTLE TREK INTO THE FUTURE OF METHODIST: THE YEAR 2006!

Security And Serenity

Let Flowers make every day an occasion

Reluctant to let go . . .
Excited to look ahead

Turning the corner again . . .

The 1982 Carillon wanted to capture the celebration and accomplishment of turning the corners that mark the milestones of life for an institution or an individual. This seemed the right time. The college has turned the corner from the first twenty-five years heading for the next twenty-five. Those of us who shared four years together at Methodist are turning the corner toward the adult world. Different corners . . . different origins . . . different destinations . . . different people. But for a little while we walked the same path toward the same sunshine. That makes the corners easier to turn.
